Assistant Professor
Department of Health Services Research, Management and Policy

Applications are being sought for a faculty position in the Department of Health Services Research, Management and Policy at the Assistant Professor rank in the area of social and behavioral science, with an emphasis in public health. This is a full-time (1.00 FTE), 12-month position with an open start date and may be hired on the tenure-track or non-tenure track based on the specific qualifications of the candidate selected.

Position: Duties include research, teaching and mentoring of students, and service to the department. An ideal applicant would demonstrate the potential to obtain extramural funding and possess a record of scientific and scholarly achievements.

The University of Florida is a comprehensive doctoral research-extensive university that includes a full range of academic departments and programs (www.ufl.edu). It has a long history of established programs in international education, research and service. The University of Florida is one of only 17 public, land-grant universities that belong to the Association of American Universities. The College of Public Health and Health Professions at the University of Florida is one among 62 schools and colleges in the U.S. that have achieved accreditation as a school of public health from the Council on Education for Public Health. Unique among its peers, the college encompasses both public health and the health professions, thereby providing a fertile environment for the integration of population-based problem solving and individual patient care. These opportunities for collaboration in education, research and service further the college’s mission to preserve, promote and improve the health and well-being of populations, communities and individuals.

Minimum Requirements: Applicants must have a doctoral degree in the social and behavioral sciences with a public health emphasis.

Preferred Qualifications: A master’s degree in public health.

Instructions to Applicants: To view the job posting online, please go to https://apply.interfolio.com/60812. All applicants should submit an application packet, which includes a CV, letter of interest, and list of references. Application review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Job# is 44281.

The University of Florida is an equal opportunity institution dedicated to building a broadly diverse and inclusive faculty and staff. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the US. Searches are conducted in accordance with Florida’s Sunshine Law.